

I have had the privilege of being the librarian for Ranch View for the last 13 years. I am a Southern California girl born and bred! I grew up in Pomona and have lived in the Inland Empire my entire life. I have been married for 25 years to my wonderful husband Rick and have two daughters, Katie and Melanie. I am an avid reader and love to hike and camp. John Muir was quoted as saying, "The mountains are calling and I must go." I second the sentiment! This summer my youngest daughter, Melanie and I are planning to hike to the top of Half Dome in Yosemite. My love for reading was apparent at an early age as my Mom loves to tell the story of how she was exceedingly grateful when I became tall enough to reach the light switch on my own, because I used to wake her up early in the morning to turn the light on so that I could read my books! It continues to be my joy to share my love of books and reading with your children.
